NEW RAIL PARTNERS — Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio railroad workers reach across their respective diesel engines to shake hands at the Washington Union Terminal after affiliation of the two big eastern carriers became effective. The roads now enter a control period leading to eventual merger. Until then, they will operate independently. On the C&O planning boards for the B&O are improvements totaling $250 million. The combined roads form an 11,000-mile system.

Study Hall Also Becoming Thing of Past

Report Cards, Exams on Way Out, Junior High Expert Says

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

Report cards are on the way out.

So are those dreadful final exams.

The study hall is fast becoming a relic.

More and more junior high students are learning to shape a ceramic dish, work in plastics or perform some other work of art in addition to their "bread-and-butter" studies.

THESE ARE A FEW OF the trends in junior high school education as pointed out Tuesday by a national authority, Aaron H. Lauchner, for the benefit of the Salem school.

After a fast, though thorough, tour of Salem, Monday, Lauchner settled down to drawing some conclusions.

The cramped situation at the junior high is most glaring, Lauchner said, but the school administration is making the most of the crowded spaces.

Lauchner said the school administration and the Board of Education are well aware of the school's problems and are attempting to remedy them.

Study halls are being abolished by many schools, as impractical, Lauchner said. He predicts that more and more schools will abandon the study period supervised by a teacher who often has no knowledge of the pupil's assignments and problems.

DISCIPLINARY PROBLEMS are bound to arise in a room full of junior high children and it is impossible for a teacher to cope with all of them, Lauchner claimed.

He advocates cutting classroom lectures to 35 or 40 minutes and using 10 or 15 minutes at the end for study by the pupils under the guidance of their subject teacher. Many schools he has visited are employing this system successfully.

Lauchner had high praise for the science enrichment program, the science fairs and the intramural program. He said Salem junior high's mathematics program is very "live."

Lauchner proposed increased junior high library facilities and an expansion of the allied arts program, such as work in ceramics, metals, plastics and wood.

THE EXPERT SAID the library is the "heart, the pulse" of any school, the educator declared.

A strong arts program supplementing the basic courses of study is a pet of Lauchner's.

"What we hope to do in junior high school is to touch off a spark in the children," the expert said.

"Then we hope the spark will burst into a fire of enthusiasm for some particular field of endeavor."

THE JUNIOR HIGH program should be exploratory, he declared, and the wider range of subjects the pupil is exposed to, the better.

Lauchner said homemaking courses should be required in junior high school since many girls are not learning this art in their own homes. He feels such study is necessary to the stability of the American home and should not be put on a "catch-as-catch-can" basis.

Soviet Arms Status To Be Aired

News Confab Set On Cuban Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will publicly discuss the Kennedy administration's estimates of Soviet strength in Cuba on a radio-television broadcast today, the White House announced.

The broadcast was scheduled for 5 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

McNamara will head a group of Pentagon officials who will hold a news conference on the subject.

The White House said a number of radio and television networks would carry it live, but broadcast plans were incomplete.

In recent days, some Republican Congress members have challenged the administration's estimates of the Soviet arsenal in the Caribbean, contending that Soviet strength there is greater than the Pentagon and State Department have reported.

The White House indicated that McNamara and his colleagues would give a detailed accounting of U.S. intelligence findings.

Originally, the administration planned to have McNamara conduct a background briefing on

Nuclear Dispute Topples Canada Government

Prime Minister To Schedule Date For New Election

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada headed today for an election campaign based on close-to-home economic issues as well as the U.S.-Canadian nuclear weapon dispute which toppled Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative government.

Diefenbaker's government was the second in nearly 100 years of Canadian confederation to be beaten down by a no-confidence vote in the House of Commons.

The prime minister was to call today on Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier, the required prelude to dissolving Parliament and setting an election date.

The election probably will be set for April 8.

Okays Overpass Fund Measures

Council Approves Ordinance Annexing 40 Acres to City

By VIRGINIA HURRAY

In regular session Tuesday night, City Council passed three newly introduced ordinances, gave first reading to two others, and gave final reading and unanimous approval to a measure adding about 40 acres of land to the city.

Two of the newly introduced and passed ordinances concern arrangement for payment of money owed by the city for engineering work on the forthcoming W. State St. overpass.

The third ordinance which was passed with emergency clause levies special assessments for the improvement of S. Broadway from E. State St. to Euclid St., Columbia St. and E. Second St. and W. Second St. by asphalt reurfacing.

Two ordinances which were introduced last night and given first reading were referred to the Council's rules and ordinance committee, which is expected to suggest amendments before the ordinances come up for further consideration.

Both of the ordinances referred to the committee after their initial reading pertain to establishing the office of zoning officer-building inspector and setting a monthly salary of $300 for the officer-inspector. These proposed measures went to committee after the consensus of Council indicated that, in addition to the naming of the position and salary, the precise duties of the zoning officer - building inspector should be listed. It is expected that the duties of the officer-inspector will be written out in detail before further readings are given to the measures.

Approved Unanimously

Introduced and given first reading at Council's Jan. 15 meeting, an ordinance authorizing annexation of two tracts of land totaling nearly 40 acres to the city of Salem received second and third readings and was unanimously approved Tuesday night.

This decision calls for adding an 8.3 acre section, which is the northern end of Waterworth Memorial Park, and for adding to the city proper about 31 acres off the end of W. 8th St. along the Pennsylvania Railroad. The latter tract is known as the Smith well field and is city owned.

Concern Overpass Cost

The two ordinances which concern arrangement for payment of money owed by the city's share of the W. State St. overpass cost, respectively: appropriate $8,601.28 from the income tax capital improvement fund; and provide for the issuance of notes by the city of Salem in anticipation of income tax revenues up to the amount of $35,000.

Transactions on the note or notes, to be dated Feb. 6, 1963, will be with the First National Bank. The note or notes shall bear interest in the rate of five per cent per annum.

Salem's total share in the cost of the W. State St. overpass is reported to be $65,694, which includes a planning cost of $43,601. With the passage of the two ordinances Tuesday night, the city will be able to forward $22,500 owed to the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency of Chicago, which loaned Salem money for the overpass project. The city will also make a $21,101 payment owed to Rackhoff and Associates of Columbus for engineering work.

The ordinance which levies special assessments for street improvement provides that: approximately 731 feet on S. Broadway from E. State St. to E. Pershing St. be assessed at about $1.85 per foot;

That about 2,568 feet on S. Broadway from E. Pershing St. to Franklin St. be assessed at about $1.58 per foot;

That about 2,741 feet on S. Broadway from Franklin to Euclid St. be assessed at about $1.39 per foot;

That about 2,064 feet on Columbia St. from S. Broadway to S. Lincoln Ave. be assessed at $1.15 per foot;

That about 2,112 feet on Second St. from Jennings to N. Ellsworth Ave. be assessed at about 71 cents per foot;

That about 696 feet on Second St. from N. Ellsworth Ave. to N. Broadway be assessed at about 93 cents a foot; and

That about 1,799 feet on Second St. from N. Broadway to N. Lincoln be assessed at about seven cents a foot.

Three Lisbon Persons Hurt

West Point Man Killed In Mishap

A 61-year-old West Point coal speculator was fatally injured and three Lisbon persons hurt in a head-on, two-car crash Tuesday night at 9:50 on Route 30, about three miles south of Lisbon.

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol, which is still investigating the mishap, identified the dead man as Sullie F. Miller of RD 1, Wellsville, a former Rogers resident. Miller was dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital.

The Lisbon victims, all riding in one car, were Arthur R. Biscan, 34, of 321 Maple St., the driver; Jerry T. McCord, 21, of 845 N. Market St. and Harold W. Kepner 49, of Alice Ave.

Kepner was admitted to Salem City Hospital with lacerations of the forehead, abrasions of the right side of face, possible chest injuries and injured left knee. He is listed as fair.

McCord had bruises of the right foot and hip and Biscan suffered

Mum on Source of Information

Sen. Keating Offers To Give JFK Data on Buildup In Cuba

By JACK BELL and
FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., offered today to give President Kennedy previously undisclosed information he has gathered about Soviet military activities in Cuba.

The New York senator, who has been involved in several disputes with the administration over his charges that the government had not told all of the facts about Cuba, made the offer in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press.

Keating said he would be willing to tell the President about reports he has received but on which he has made no public statements because he could not confirm their authenticity to his own satisfaction.

Won't Reveal Sources

But Keating said he doesn't want to reveal even to Kennedy the sources of information the administration has often challenged in the past but which proved to be basically right.

Keating clarified one issue of conflict with the Pentagon. He conceded he was not talking about hard bases for intermediate range missiles when he said last week he had evidence offensive bases were being maintained by the Soviets.

As far as he knows, Keating said these concrete bases have been broken up. He said he was talking about gravel-based medium range missile sites. He conceded he has no information that launchers which could be used on the sites remain in Cuba. "I don't think they are posing any weapons or they're going to launch an invasion against the U.S.A.," he said.

Here are questions and answers from the interview:

Q. The matter of the Soviet build-up in Cuba appears to be rushing toward an investigative crisis in Congress. Sen. Humphrey has suggested open hearings. Would you favor such hearings and would you be willing to appear before some investigating committee?

A. I would certainly favor open hearings but I think it should be left to the discretion of the Senate committee.

Q. Would you give such a committee any information you have as well as the sources of that information if the sources were held confidential?

A. They will call as witnesses, I am told, officials in the Defense Department and the CIA (Central Intelligence Agency) and the State Department and they will have all of the information I have and a good deal more. I would be glad to confer with the members of that committee any time they wanted me to but I don't think it would be in the interest of anyone to have me as a witness because what I know is comparatively little compared to what they can get from these other witnesses.

Q. Sen. Humphrey said that any senator or any House member who had information about the Cuban situation ought to give it first to the CIA and then make a speech about it. Have you done that?

A. All of the information which I have had has come from government officials or if it's come from other sources, it has been cleared by government officials before I have spoken.

Q. What kind of government officials?

A. Not the top. Lower level officials.

Q. Are you suggesting what may be known at a lower level may not be known at a higher level? And, if this is known at a higher level, are you suggesting there is some dereliction in the government in not acting on that information?

A. Well, first I don't know to what level particular information is known. I am not charging dereliction against anyone. I have every reason to think that those who have the information I have are just as good patriotic Americans as I am. I think probably the same may be true which was apparently true last October. They place a different interpretation on the information than I do. I don't charge them with any insincerity or anything else, but I think that the situation in Cuba is very serious.

Q. There are some direct conflicts between a number of critical points in a speech you made last week and the Defense Department position, for example, on the status of the medium range and the intermediate missile sites. The Defense Department contends that those sites, those bases were dismantled and broken up in the case of the IRBM's, that the missile erectors and the oxidizers and all the equipment needed to activate the missiles had been removed and had been seen on outgoing ships—

A. I never mentioned IRBM's at any time. There are three kinds of missiles and three kinds of missile bases that should be differentiated in this connection. One is what are called the ground-to-air missile bases; one medium range bases; one intermediate range missile bases. The intermediate range missile bases have a concrete base. I was at no time talking about that, no reference to that whatever. When the Defense Department replied, they got that into the picture. Now a great many of those have been bulldozed and broken up and perhaps all of them have, as far as I know. The anti-aircraft missile sites are there and there is no dispute about that. What I was talking about was the medium range missile sites, which do not have a concrete base at all. They are gravel or hard-top in character. The hard-top and gravel has not been ripped up, has not been removed, and is in the same condition and is being kept there right today ready for use if they so desired to use it.

Q. Is that significant really, unless there is evidence, and you may have evidence, that the missile erectors, the oxidizing equipment, the preparation buildings are also there?

A. As far as I know, the buildings and the so-called launchers are not on those sites. We don't know where they are. I don't think anyone knows.

Q. Let's get this straight. Is this a base which could be used offensively against us?

A. Yes. It could be.

Q. About how long range a missile is it?

A. Oh, people differ on that but in the neighborhood of 1,000 miles.

Q. Your sources have no reports of very important missile equipment like the erectors and the oxidizers still being in Cuba?

A. No, I have no knowledge either that they still are in Cuba or that they are not. They can easily be transported and hidden but I have no positive evidence that they are.

Q. Do you have any suggestive evidence, put it that way?

A. I have been very careful not to make statements—until I felt I had the confirmed knowledge, and I do not have that as to these.

Q. How would you say that this knowledge has been confirmed?

A. It has been confirmed by government officials in all cases where I have made a statement.

Q. You said that before the October quarantine action was taken you thought the administration officials had the facts but concealed them because they didn't know what to do. Do you suggest that they now have information similar to yours but are concealing it for the same reason?

A. Well, I don't like your use of the word conceal, because that implies something sinister. I did not mean it then as sinister, and I do not now.

Q. I believe you used the word "conceal."

A. Perhaps I did. I did not think I did, but if I did I'll stand on the word, but I want to preface it by saying that I do not consider there is anything sinister in that. It is difficult to know what to do. I think very possibly that that may account for the reluctance on the part of the officials to give Americans all of the facts with regard to the Russian build-up there.

Q. If we concede there is the buildup which you contend there is there, and it's dangerous, what is your suggestion on what we ought to do about it?

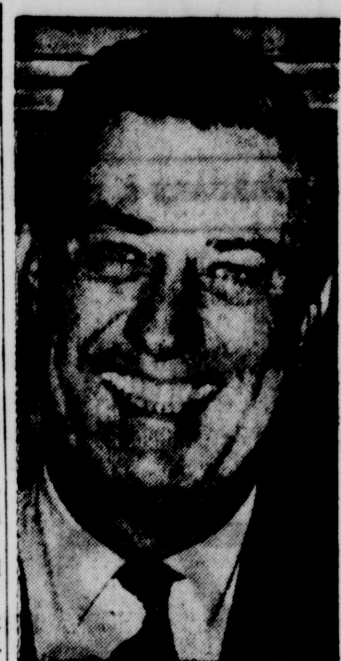

A. First, I think the American people should be given all of the facts, regarding this buildup. I can see no problem of security involved. Second, we should put into effect this executive order to prevent free world ships carrying goods to Cuba for their economic buildup then coming to American ports and picking up goods here to go back across the Atlantic. Going beyond that, I have some ideas as to what should be done but I think the responsible way to handle that is to present those ideas, and I would be delighted to do it if I'm invited, either to the President or to those in authority.

Protestant-Catholic Tension Relaxing, Lutherans Hear

NEW YORK (AP)—A new era in Christian relationships in America is foreseen in a report to the National Lutheran Council, meeting here today.

The annual report said tension between Protestants and Roman Catholics has noticeably relaxed as a result of the Second Vatican Council.

In the United States, "current dialogues between the groups over a variety of subjects and issues continue to increase in number and scope," the report said.

"The climate of such contacts, which had been thawing steadily over recent years, warmed up suddenly in 1962, opening up the way for further advances," he said.

The report was compiled by the Rev. Dr. Paul C. Empie, executive director of the Lutheran council, cooperative agency representing two major Lutheran denominations with more than 5½ million members.

Conclusions of Protestant observers at the Vatican Council, which held its first session late last year, indicate that "the climate and directions which characterized these initial deliberations in Rome forecast the arrival of a new era in Christian relationships," the report said.

It said immediate constructive results are likely to be limited, but that further contacts are developing, with Lutheran pastors increasingly invited into Catholic settings in this country to share views.

The report was issued at the start Tuesday of the three-day 45th annual meeting of the Lutheran cooperative agency.

U.S. Marines To Take 1908 Strength Test

manded of Leathernecks by President Theodore Roosevelt.

The unusual military exercise, to be conducted at Camp Lejeune, N.C., stemmed from the recent discovery of a long-forgotten executive order in which Roosevelt prescribed fitness standards for Marine officers.

Gen. David M. Shoup, the Marine commandant who shares Kennedy's interest in fitness, sent the 54-year-old document to the President as a historic curiosity. Kennedy decided, however, that it was more than a curiosity. He responded with a proposal that Shoup find out "how well our present-day officers perform the tests specified by President Roosevelt."

In a matter of hours, Marine headquarters prepared a detailed directive ordering a test by officers of the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune.

At least 10 captains and 10 lieutenants, selected to provide a representative sample of personnel, will take the test. Shoup warned they should not be told about the experiment in advance.

Once the officers are assembled, they will get these marching orders:

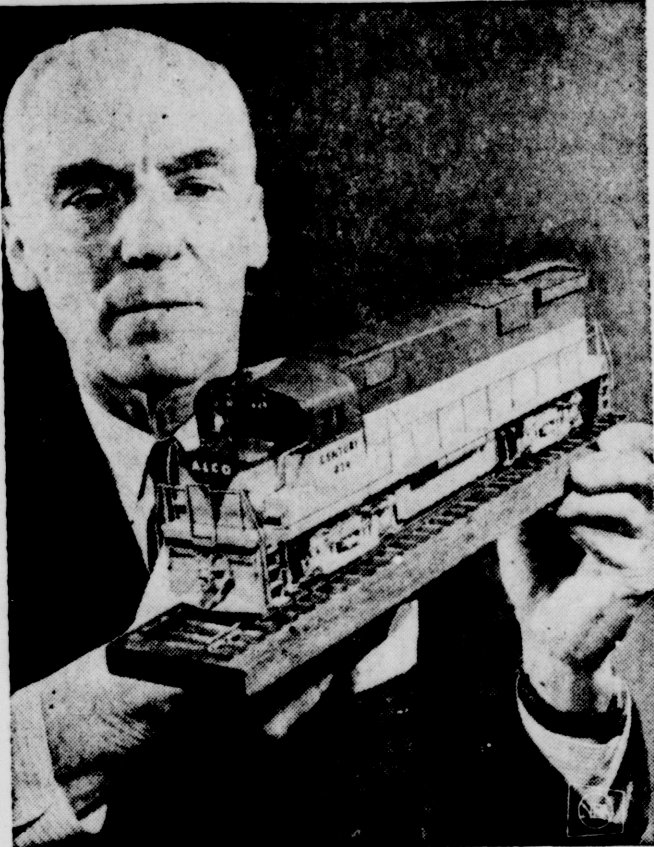

Walk 50 miles in no more than three days, with actual walking time and rest stops limited to 2 hours. Shoup noted, rather pointedly, that some officers of 1908 covered the course in a single day.

Upon reaching the final half-mile, the officers must double-time 200 yards, rest for 30 seconds, then double-time for 300 yards, rest a minute, and wind up with a 200-yard dash to the finish line.

Actually, this could be more than a test of Marine vigor. The entire White House staff may have a stake in the results—particularly Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary.

As Kennedy noted in his letter to Shoup, Theodore Roosevelt "laid down such requirements not only for the officers of the Marine Corps but, when possible, for members of his own family, members of his staff and Cabinet, and even for unlucky foreign diplomats" who were dragged into hiking with him through Washington's Rock Creek Park.

The President told Shoup that if the test indicates "that the strength and stamina of the modern Marine is at least equivalent to that of his antecedents, I will then ask Mr. Salinger to look into the matter personally and give me a report on the fitness of the White House staff."

SECOND GENERATION PAST "STEAM"—New line of diesel-electric locomotives in the 2,000-2,400-h.p. range is going into production. They will outdate typical 1,600-h.p. units built in the 1948-1952 period—the diesels which put the Iron Horse out to pasture. Some 5,000 to 6,000 of the now "ancient" diesels are expected to be replaced within the next five years, according to Alco Products president William G. Miller, shown with model of the new locomotive, above.

Unique Scout Troop

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country," begins one of the world's most famous oaths.

"To help other people at all times," it concludes, "to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

That pledge—and the motto "Be Prepared"—have helped guide the lives of 36 million Boy Scouts and their leaders since the founding of the famous youth organization in this country 53 years ago.

This is National Boy Scout Week, and it is being celebrated by an active membership of around 5,250,000 scouts and their adult leaders.

Here are some items of interest about the movement:

Nine members of President Kennedy's Cabinet were Boy Scouts, and so was Kennedy. So were 21 of the 27 Rhodes Scholars named in 1962, 75 per cent of the freshman class at West Point, and every one of the new crop of U.S. astronauts selected last year. Scouting is carried on in 141 countries, colonies and protectorates throughout the world. One out of every four American men has been associated with the program either as a scout or as a leader.

In America to day there are 135,000 troops sponsored by PTA's, American Legion posts, Red Cross chapters, churches, and civic organizations. There are more than 1½ million adult volunteers, and the biggest problem of the movement is to find enough qualified men to lead the growing number of troops. The task takes time, experience, dedication and an understanding of and sympathy for youth.

Nearly 1.5 per cent of all Boy Scouts go on to become Eagle Scouts, who must win 21 Merit Badges.

Although scouting stresses physical fitness, it doesn't overlook the handicapped. There are more than 40,000 blind scouts, and the Boy Scout Handbook is available in Braille for their benefit.

A unique group is Troop 869 of Hondo, Cal. Its 26 boys have no canoes or camping equipment. They can't swim, camp or hike. They memorize the information they need to win Merit Badges. They learn knot-tying yet don't see the knots they tie.

The boys of Troop 869 rarely get outdoors, and when they do many people have to accompany them. Just ordinary Boy Scouts with perhaps a little more fortitude and ambition, all are hospitalized and confined to iron lungs. All have polio.

Sen. Young Asks Pay Boost for GI's

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mr. average G.I.—who's moaned for years that he is underpaid—has a vocal supporter in Congress.

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D—Ohio, took the floor of the Senate Tuesday to complain that rookie truck drivers and policemen often get more pay than 20-year veterans in the armed forces.

Young spoke in favor of an administration bill which would raise military pay an average of 14 per cent. It would be the first military pay raise in five years.

Young noted that civilian government workers have had two raises since 1958.

Missiles Issue In Cuba

Secretary of Defense McNamara thinks it is "probable" that unofficial observers are seeing all the missiles in Cuba they are talking about but that the missiles they are seeing constitute no threat to the United States.

This is the Cuban missile issue in capsule form.

Potential attack on the United States would require missiles of enough range to reach critical targets—New York, Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Philadelphia.

Missiles lacking this capability are defensive in character. They are theoretically useful only to defend Cuba against attack. The attack would not have to be launched from the United States.

The Bay of Pigs invasion project was not based in the United States. Cubans and their Russian defenders are aware of the proposed strategy of destroying the Castro regime in Cuba with an all Latin-American military force.

There is no reason Cuba should be without defense in the missile era. Even though its weapons and the men on had to use them if they are needed are Russian, the United States has no desire to deny Cuba the right to a defense system.

Even Latin American countries fearful of being attacked by Cuba would not take it kindly if the United States barred Cuba from possession of defensive arms. This should be remembered by those taking this position on their own responsibility.

It marks the difference between them and the government on the missile issue. The government must say only what it knows to be true; it cannot speculate.

The missiles are in Cuba, Secretary McNamara concedes. But they are not the kind that would be used for attack. They are defensive weapons, and the United States is not barring Cuba from possession of defensive weapons.

Singing the Blue Law Blues

If that House Judiciary subcommittee charged with drafting a new Ohio "blue law" tries to compile a master list of things that can be sold on Sunday, it may be having its meals sent in when football season opens for Ohio State's Buckeyes next fall.

The only way it could sidestep frustration over a master list is to put down everything that came to mind the first time around with a proviso for adding everything else that would come to mind in months to come. We are not living in a static economy. New products come on the market all the time.

If the subcommittee to define what could be sold only by general categories, it would flounder as badly as if it tried to name everything, item by item—chicken eggs, goose eggs, turkey eggs, bantam eggs, duck eggs, guinea fowl eggs and so on down the list.

IT IS NOT pleasant to think of a local enforcement officer thumbing through a booklet listing things that could be sold legally on Sunday and not finding shoe strings even though the pastor of the church

Signs, At Least

What a welcome sight to see the pavement and the sidewalks again as the snows melt beneath a bright sun and warming temperatures.

Actually, spring can't be too far behind. The seed catalogues have arrived, the evenings are getting longer and several persons, including Loren Pim of RD 4, Salem, who saw a flock of 25, have spotted the first robins.

The fact that we're all dreaming about spring proves that we, too, are stirring after winter's numbing cold.

Perfume is often what wins men, says a cosmetic dealer. We'll bet on the kind that comes from the kitchen stove.

A dollar isn't worth a cent unless you spend it.

Talk to the man at the top and you'll find he's at the bottom of a lot of hard work.

Lest We Forget

By Truman Twill

"Remind me," I grated to the lady who has been freezing her ears with me this winter, "not to forget next summer how puffed I am about all this."

She promised. What did I propose to do about it, though, next summer, she wondered. Did I really want to carry my bitterness into warm weather?

The answer was Yes. I wanted to remember how it felt to walk in a blizzard with snow piling up behind my glasses until I could see nothing. I didn't want to forget what it was like to step inside the house for half a minute to get something and have my glasses cloud over so they had to be removed, after my stocking cap and face mask had been removed first.

What I proposed to do, I explained, was to make a list of words suitable for the occasion and speakable in the presence of children, so whenever I thought of freezing fingers, aching toes, frost-bitten ears and the back-breaking toil of shoveling snow from under stuck cars and breaking sliding barn doors free from the clinging sheet ice that formed at their base I could do justice to my feelings.

What had happened this winter, I explained, was that I had grown weary of hearing myself be profane about a climate that inflicted unremitting discomfort and trouble.

I would feel the same way about the rain jungles of Brazil, the fetid swamps of Florida, the wind-blown wastes of Texas, or California in flood-time. The weather would get to me if I were trying to brave it out in the Arctic, being fried in the desert, or destroyed by rot in one of the fungus-infested South Sea islands.

But I was tired of trying to do justice to this sort of thing with a vocabulary limited to self-learned and self-taught profanity and obscenity. I wanted something high-brow that could be ripped off in front of children and men of the cloth.

Words like arrant, foul, base, vile, low,

No Pretty Sight

The proposal by our district state senator Edmund Sargus to require strict regulations for junk yards outside of municipalities in Ohio would affect automobile "graveyards" not already governed by local zoning laws.

In cities like Salem and surrounding Perry Township, where zoning laws are enforced, junk yards can not be established in restricted areas, fortunately. Existing businesses of this type, are not affected but control would have been possible had our city fathers had the foresight years ago.

We hope the General Assembly sees fit to pass Sen. Sargus' legislation because it is unlikely that we will ever see the day when junk yards will be graced by trees and shrubbery. There's nothing pretty about what junk yards are full of—junk.

ignominious, perfidious, mean, paltry, dirty, scurvy, scabby, sneaking, debased, contemptuous, irresponsible, hateful obnoxious irritating, horrible, exasperating, infuriating, maddening . . .

With words like these, I could memorize a spate of hate for winter that would run on for minutes, which would be an improvement: over the machinegun bursts of foul language I had been using. The lady who covers her ears when I get going good wondered what fired me up.

Then she saw the trouble. My new gadget —my snow blower—was sitting at the bottom of a hill. I had been playing with it, practicing to get the hang of its operation so when it snows I can blow snow out of our long lane. I didn't know there was ice from the previous day's rain beneath the snow. When I reached the bottom of the hill, the snow blower couldn't chug to the top because it lacked traction in a snow-covered skating rink.

... repulsive, disgusting, reprehensible, rotten, wretched, pestilential, putrescent lousy scummy scurvy, festering stinking, slimy, beastly reeking gory flyblown, maggoty, putrid, rickety . . .

Words like these, I explained, could be ripped out anywhere.

... malevolent, sinful, accursed, vicious, iniquitous, base, villainous, diabolical, satanic, stygian, fiendish, degrading, dilapidated, leprous, knavish, infamous, scurrilous, unmentionable . . .

If I could put them in a list, I explained, I could read the list every day all summer and keep my anger alive. The lady shoved me out the door and said, "That would be ridiculous. Go outside and get it off your chest. What were you doing with your plaything at the bottom of the hill anyway? Go put some nice snow into the hole in your head, you unmentionable name of a unprintable so and so derived from a calamitous cross between a you-know-what and something that beggars description."

Republicans In Congress Shaking Off Lethargy

By ROWLAND EVANS

True believers in the two-party system can take heart at what sounds suspiciously like a murmur of life in the Republican party in Congress.

Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania put his finger on the Republican disease when he went to New York recently to help Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller raise money for the Republican party.

"The Democrats have been positive and tricked us into being negative," Gov. Scranton said. "As a result, we appear less imaginative, they more dynamic."

TRUER WORDS never were spoken. For two years now the Republican minority in Congress has wallowed, trying to find a firm footing and establish a political base and getting knocked off balance by the clever, sometimes brilliant maneuvering of the administration.

As Gov. Scranton said: "Part of the problem facing the Republican party today is that our opponents have frequently been much better than we are spreading an infectious kind of exuberance."

Exuberance hasn't been a Republican strong point for quite some time. It's a characteristic of a good many individual Republicans. But taken as a whole, the Republican party in Congress has the exuberance of a clam salesman.

All this isn't going to change overnight, but since Jan. 9, when the new Congress came back to town, the Republicans have made encouraging noises.

The most recent of these was the new civil rights bill that most Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee endorsed a few days ago.

The bill won't ever come out of the committee and won't ever pass the House. At least one of its proposals—to reduce Southern representation in Congress to the extent that Negroes are denied the right to vote—would start a revolution in the House and break the filibuster record in the Senate.

THE SIGNIFICANT thing about the bill is not, however, that it will never pass. The Republicans are not the majority party and don't have the responsibility to pass bills.

The significant thing is that the Republicans have now adopted a sweeping civil rights strategy where before there was none. They can talk about their bill.

They can use it to needle the Democrats, whose civil rights plant apparently fell off the 1960 platform the day after the election.

The Republicans may not make a single vote doing this, but a party without a well-defined civil rights policy or strategy is not a party at all.

Another murmur of life in the House Republicans is their clear intention to challenge the administration's test-ban policy.

The Republicans are against ending nuclear tests without far broader concessions on the matter of inspection and verification.

The Republicans may be right and they may be wrong about what constitutes "adequate" inspection. But they must have a policy if they want to stay a party.

Other strategies are going to be developed in the House minority. One hopes that they will not be entirely negative, but even a negative strategy is better than none at all.

Without the White House, without a "titular" leader and without the kind of top-level advisory group that the Democrats contrived during the eight years of Dwight Eisenhower, the Republicans have no place in which to develop a strategy other than in Congress.

THE ACTIVISTS among the House Republicans are, naturally, the younger members who elected Rep. Gerry Ford of Michigan to be chairman of the Republican conference.

Ford is neither a conservative nor a liberal. The men who elected Rep. Ford are the men who painstakingly drafted the new Republican civil rights program and who arranged for experts like Edward Teller to discuss the test-ban question in front of the Republican conference.

All this is for the good. A powerful, ambitious administration with strong majorities in both Houses needs an organized opposition.

It begins to look as though, after all, there may be one . . . not just a collection of "no" votes against every program the administration sends to Congress but an organized minority with a policy and strategy all its own.

Matter of Fact

Are you among the thousands of people who are under the impression that New York City is the largest city in the world? Well, unfortunately that impression is erroneous. Tokyo is the largest city and New York ranks second, based on the population figures for the metropolitan area.

"Amen" is an old Hebrew expression, translated from the Old Testament to mean "so be it." It is perhaps the most widely known word in human speech, because it is used today in worship not only by Jews but also by Christians and in a minor degree by Mohammedans.

Ever-Increasing Cuban Buildup

From the Files

By VICTOR RIESEL

Over a bridge of freighters reaching from Riga to Havana, the Soviets are rushing heavy, ultra-modern materiel for military —as well as economic —offensives against some still unknown Latin targets.

There is evidence in the files of U.S. intelligence services to prove that over this waterborne route flow supersonic fighter planes, mobile electric power stations by the score, ingredients for new airports—industrial goods ranging from motors to a brush factory. The latter was supplied the other day by East Germany.

Even the names of ships bringing in new groupings of Soviet specialists are known. There is no doubt of the new Soviet buildup.

There are, for example, four recently improved airports. Allegedly these are for the use of Russian light craft for agricultural work.

However, the veterans among the government-in-exile groupings report their own agents have only recently informed them the airports have military capabilities. Let there be any doubt, it should be known that the new runways are at Colon, Santa Clara, Ciego de Avila and Bayamo.

FURTHERMORE, the regular airports now are being adapted for jet fighter use. And they are used.

On Jan. 9, the Ministry of the Revolutionary Armed Forces notified the Cuban public not to be alarmed by what would seem to be explosive noise. These would be merely jet planes breaking the sound barrier—the sonic boom familiar to many of us who have been near our own military air depots.

The specific announcement from the Revolutionary Ministry warn the people not to be alarmed by such detonations between 9 o'clock in the morning and 4:30 in the afternoon. There would be "more jet plane flights over the national territory" at Pinar del Rio, Havana, Matanzas, Las Villas and Camaguey.

To rework an old Russian proverb, aircraft is not a potato, nor does it grow in the ground like an onion.

The military equipment, including swift amphibious vehicles, and the industrial supplies are being ferried by two commercial armadas.

ONE IS from the Soviet European bloc. During the winter months it runs from Riga to Cuba. During the summer, or ice-free seasons, it is extended to Leningrad.

The fleet had to be peeled off the regular Soviet merchant marine because the Cubans now have only 19 vessels of their own—and most of them are rickety tubs.

The new tonnage is being added swiftly. Poland is building three vessels—the Camilo Cienfuegos, the Gonzalez Linez and the Aracelio Iglesias.

Four other cargo carriers for the Soviet-Cuban run are being constructed in Finland. They'll be motor vessels of 10,000 tons each.

The other fleet is being supplied by our NATO partners. They still are on the Havana run. We still permit some of their operators to do business with the United States—though these same ships also are running to ports of Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam.

This is the home base of the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas who have killed many American soldiers in South Viet Nam.

IF YOU don't believe there is a war in South Viet Nam, then spend some time, as I just did, at Scott Field near Belleville, Ill. Some of our overseas-bound military are phased there.

There families know there's a war on. Yet ships of non-Communist nations help supply the homeland of our enemy in Southeast Asia as well as our enemy in the Caribbean.

These ships, as well as the Soviet fleet, supply the Castro government with the equipment for its industrial offensive in Latin America.

Though the Soviets are in desperate need of the machinery, Moscow is pouring into Cuba so Havana can in turn eventually become a commercial and productive showplace.

Then it can begin dumping products into Latin America—making friends and opening markets.

There is, for example, the steady flow of supplies from the Vladimir Ilich (Lenin) electromechanical products plant in Moscow.

IT HAS given Cuba priority for well over a year. In 1962 it dispatched 120 big motors and 55 mobile electric power plants to the Fidelistas. This is just one plant of scores which are functioning chiefly for Cuba.

As for the new Russian specialists and military technicians, they are coming over regularly on three vessels. One is the famous Bakitka, which brought N. S. Khrushchev to New York for his shoe-banging performance at the U.N. The others are the Mikhail Kalinin and the Maria Ulianova.

The Baltik's most recent arrival was on Jan. 8 at the Sierra Maestra pier in Havana. On Jan. 14 the Ulianova left Riga for Havana with new spads of technicians and "tourists."

There you have it — names, dates, details. There's a buildup, that's for certain.

History Today

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 6, the 37th day of 1963. There are 328 days left in this year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1900, Theodore Roosevelt, who was being mentioned as a possible vice presidential running mate with William McKinley on the Republican ticket, issued a statement in which he declared that he neither would, nor could, accept the nomination for the No. 2 spot. Four months later, however, Roosevelt accepted the nomination, and one year later he became president when McKinley died of wounds inflicted by an assassin.

On this day: In 1788, Massachusetts became the sixth state to ratify the Constitution.

In 1867, the French evacuated Mexico.

In 1912, King George V and Queen Mary of England returned from a journey to India.

In 1933, the 20th, or Lame Duck, Amendment to the Constitution took effect, setting forth that Congress meet every year on Jan. 3, and that the President take office every fourth year on Jan. 20.

In 1954, The Netherlands became the first country to ratify the European Defense Community Treaty.

Today's birthdays: The popular singer, Fabian, is 20. Actor Ronald Reagan is 52.

old son. I have no relatives that I know of, having been raised in an orphanage.

My husband was killed in a hunting accident three years. His parents, who are well-to-do and socially prominent, live in another city.

The last time I saw them was at my husband's funeral. They have shown no interest in me or their grandchild, not even a letter to inquire how we are getting along. I'm sure they wish to ignore us because Danny is retarded.

I attend night school and work parttime as a stenographer. I'm unable to hold a regular job because of Danny. My pastor and doctor are aware of the physical strain and the financial struggle. They have suggested I put Danny in an institution. I don't want to do it. Danny needs my love and, besides, he's all I have.

Shall I write my father-in-law (whom I haven't seen or heard from in three years) and ask for financial help? I don't want to beg for charity but what can I do?—ELLEN.

Dear Ellen: You can do as your pastor and doctor advise. I suspect you are hanging on to your child for your sake rather than his. It may well be that Danny would be happier in an institution.

Your in-laws have demonstrated they have no interest in you or your son. This is about as low as people can get and I would not demean myself by asking such heartless clods for help.

Double Check

Dear Ann: I'm making this easy for you because I know you have a lot of letters to read. Just put a check mark in either one of the boxes below. One is marked YOU PAY. The other is marked SHE PAYS.

My cleaning lady is the dumbest cluck who ever lived. She has worked for me six years, which entitled me to a medal for patience.

Yesterday she overloaded my washing machine. (She said she was trying to save soap.) The motor is now burned out and the repair bill is going to be a lulu.

Is she responsible and should I insist that she pay? Or do I pay?—Thank you. —CRAZY CATH-ERINE.

Dear Catherine: If it's legal advice you want, see a lawyer. If it's my opinion you want, I am checking, YOU PAY.

Educators Favorable To Regents Board Plan

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
News Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS—Presidents of the state's six universities huddled behind closed doors Tuesday night with sponsors of the Ohio Board of Regents bill and, according to Rep. Robert H. Longworth, R-Carroll, "are pretty much agreeable to it."

Reporters, who were denied entrance to the meeting, were told later by Longworth that the educators objected to some of the terminology in the bill and expressed some fears of political domination.

"But no objection was raised to the principle of the board of coordinating state higher education," Longworth said.

Would Control Branches

The bill provides for a nine-member board which, among other things, would have authority to approve or reject university branches or extensions. Six members would be appointed by the governor. The others would be elected officials: the attorney general, house speaker and senate majority leader.

Some of the college presidents felt they might run into trouble with university accrediting agencies if the board were political in its composition, Longworth reported.

Longworth, brother of Rev. William Longworth of Salem and one of the bill's sponsors and head of the house education committee, defended his action in locking out newsmen, saying: "We just held sort of a ladies aid meeting up there."

He said no decision was made and that the first formal committee hearing next Tuesday night would be open.

Longworth said he hopes to send the bill to a subcommittee Tuesday night. "And if they reported it out Wednesday, I'd buy it," he said, "because we want to get it on the (house) floor."

University presidents at the meeting were George A. Bowman of Kent State, Novice G. Fawcett of Ohio State, Ralph Harshman of Bowling Green, John Millett of Miami, Charles Wesley of Central State College and Vernon Alden of Ohio University.

Two Rogers Men Burned In Mishap

Two Rogers area men, both fathers of large families, who were burned Saturday when their bulldozer caught fire while they were working near Elkton are recuperating at their homes from serious burns.

The victims were Robert Boggs, a father of nine children, and Ralph Widdle, father of four, all of RD 1, Rogers. Boggs suffered burns of the neck and hands and Widdle was burned on the face and hands.

Their bulldozer caught fire, igniting their clothing, at the home of Delmar Harold as they were using it to pull a truck loaded with timbers. The dozer burned completely.

Cuba for newsmen.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the briefing was being converted into a public news conference because "so much interest has been manifested" in the session.

In another move understood to have White House blessing, John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, agreed today to present a detailed report on the Soviet arms status in Cuba to a Senate watchdog defense subcommittee.

Informed senators said McCone was expected to testify this afternoon at a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee.

McCone's appearance was reportedly arranged by President Kennedy. There were unconfirmed reports that the McCone testimony would be made public later.

The White House action seemed directed at quieting the belligerent partisan debate which has flared in Congress over a variety of reports of a massive Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

McCone, a Republican, is expected to back up with some concrete evidence Kennedy's contention that there has been no significant increase in Soviet military power since last October's missile crisis.

dispute brought down the government, chief opposition leader Lester B. Pearson said he believes the major issue in the coming campaign will be the need for economic and social policies to stimulate "our national growth to the point where we'll be able to give employment to all who are willing and able to work."

Pearson, leader of the Liberal party, apparently was trying to tone down the defense issue. He, too, has been attacked for advocating that Canada live up to commitments to accept nuclear weapons and then negotiate to get rid of them.

Compact Car Hits Truck; Woman Hurt

Mrs. Mary Lou Wolfe, 45, of East Liverpool is in fair condition in East Liverpool City Hospital today following a mishap involving her compact car and a tractor-trailer on Route 30, one mile north of East Liverpool, Tuesday at 10:25 p.m.

The truck was operated by Kenneth Ekkeberry, 45, of Sycamore, O.

poor reading ability of today's children. Lauchner said that some children will not rise above certain levels regardless of how good the reading program.

"Reading ability is a reflection of the IQ, and even privately tutored children without the innate ability to read, will not become adept at this skill, the speaker maintained."

HE CRITICIZED THOSE American schools whose educational standards suffer because too much of their budget and energy go to cater to a powerhouse football or basketball team, an unexcelled band or the development of beauty queens.

Lauchner advocates a well-balanced program of scholastics, athletics and fringe activities.

The consultant is a strong supporter of language instruction in junior high school, reporting that some schools are now giving five years of language beginning with 8th grade.

The need for more emphasis on the gifted students of America was also stressed by Lauchner. Salem schools are well along in this respect, the expert said.

Pointing out mathematics as an example, he favors giving the fast learner seventh and eighth grade math in one year, allowing him to complete all other mathematical courses before he is a senior so he can take a special seminar or do research in mathematical problems.

At the same time, Adenauer maintained that "without friendship between France and Germany a united Europe cannot come into being." He treated the breakdown in the Brussels negotiations as a temporary setback.

China's Role In Future Events Is Traced By Speaker

Denis Warner, an Australian and an authority on Asian affairs, stated that "there is no chance of any uprising in China" when he spoke to 250 persons at the fourth Salem Town Hall lecture of the season at Salem Junior High School Tuesday.

He based this theory on the fact that he feels the Chinese have "struck bottom" and that conditions in the country are now showing improvement.

According to Warner, the rift between China and Russia is extensive but, since both nations are devoted to the principals of Communism, will not become a critical factor in international relations.

By 1982, China will have a population of more than a billion and will rank third among the world's military powers and first in militancy, Warner contends.

Born in Tasmania, Warner now lives just outside Melbourne. He is the author of a book, "Hurricane from China," and a contributor to the Atlantic Monthly, The Reporter and other magazines. Among his many awards is the Nieman Fellowship in 1956-57.

On Sunday, members in uniform will accompany their parents to church.

He was introduced by Earl S. Kerr.

Next Town Hall lecture will be "The Conquest of Space" by Willey Ley at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 28 in the Junior High School auditorium.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

By HELOISE CRUSE
DEAR HELOISE: We dry cleaners associations have had to contend with the "fish" odor problems in cottons for the past five years. This question has appeared in your column before.

As of this writing, not one of the dry cleaning research laboratories has been able to come up with a solution as to how it can be removed.

I am enclosing the answer from a fabric news bulletin which gives a more complete explanation of this problem.

CHARLES JACK TRUXAL.

DEAR FOLKS: Here is the news on fabrics from the professional dry cleaners on removing those offensive odors.

"A large portion of today's moving those offensive odors finishing treatment during manufacturing. This is done so that they will have some special property, such as dimensional stability, resistance to spots, stains, wrinkle resistance and so forth.

"Under conditions of heat (body temperature and heat involved in dry cleaning) and moisture (perspiration and steam in finishing), fabrics finished with carbamide resins of urea or melamine type may tend to give off an offensive odor described as being 'fishy.'"

"The development of this odor can be traced to an inefficient 'curing' of the resin on the fabrics or to a breakdown of the components of the resin.

"When the odor develops as described above, it usually cannot be removed.

"It is strongly recommended that garments affected in this manner be returned to the manufacturer since the odor is inherent in the fabric.

HELOISE SE.

DEAR HELOISE: It finally dawned on me, while reading the paper today, that I should share a little novelty which our family thoroughly enjoys.

It's fish sticks! But not the plain old fish sticks that we usually serve to our family... regulation style.

I buy a box of fish sticks, and while they are still frozen, I take my sharpest knife and cut them into little squares. I then lay these on a cookie sheet which has been lined with foil and put it in my oven. My family likes fish sticks cooked a little bit longer than the directions on the package state. We find that this makes them crisp.

For variations some nights I slice stuffed olives into thin slivers which I lay on top of each little square bite. It's quick, it's easy to eat, it's cheap and it's different!

My family enjoys this dish when cut into bite sizes. Yet they never even liked fish sticks before.

Salem Faces Boardman, Alliance This Weekend

Aviators Show A 5-7 Record

Quakers Have Lost 3 Of Last 7 Games

Boardman may not prove to be much of a problem here Friday, but you can bet Alliance will go all out to knock off the Quakers Saturday.

Salem entertains the Spartans at Senior High, and tackles the Aviators at Stanton Junior High in Alliance.

On the road this campaign Salem has lost three of four. The Red and Black are 4-3 for their last seven tilts.

Dave Brenner, a 5-8 senior guard, is a play maker, and good shooter for the Spartans. He chalked up 26 points in a 58-56 loss to Struthers Tuesday night.

COACH DICK Selby, in his first year as head mentor, will also include in his starting Boardman lineup seniors Rick Hatcher 6-2, Bob Getz 6-4, Gerald Borsch 6-2 and sophomore George Rousher 5-8.

Boardman has posted three wins and 11 losses so far during the campaign. The Spartans dropped a decision to Youngstown South last Dec. 18.

Coach Ron Peeling's Alliance squad has dropped four of five Ohio Big 8 Basketball Conference contests. Salem is 1-3 in the loop.

Alliance will have no easy task this weekend. The Aviators, before they get the shot at Salem, face powerful Harding Friday night.

BOTH TEAMS have met Niles. The Quakers demolished the Red Dragons 84-72. Alliance was handed a 69-62 setback by the Trumbull County School Jan. 12.

Coach Peeling will start seniors Chet Bryant 6-2, Lou Tosha 6-4, Henry Waters 6-0, and Larry Grimes 5-8, and junior Jim Dawson 6-0.

Bryant is averaging 16.6 a game, while Tosha has been a demon on the boards and is the team's number two scorer with 14.5 points a game.

A total of 12 points have been the difference, an average of four, in the losses suffered in the last seven clashes by Salem. It started with a 64-60 defeat at Warren, followed by a 65-52 loss here to Akron South, and a 58-53 loss at East Liverpool the last time out.

COACH CEBAS will probably start Bill Berry 6-1, Bob King 6-5, Martin Waller 6-0, Rick Platt and Dave Capel, both 5-9. Rich Switzer and John Zilske will probably see some action.

Following the Alliance clash, Salem will entertain Youngstown East, Feb. 12, and Canton McKinley, Feb. 16 to finish up the regular season before preparing for sectional tournament competition.

A limited amount of tickets for the Alliance tilt (all general admission) went on sale today at Hedderston's Pharmacy and Fisher's News Agency.

Students can pick up their ducats at the Athletic Directors' office each day after school. Stanton Junior High can seat 2,000 fans.

Sosbe's Triumph In Slo-Break Loop

Sosbe's keep right on rolling along in the Slo-Break League. The first half champs made in nine straight with a 47-23 victory over Bellows Valvair at the Memorial Building Tuesday night.

Willy's was awarded a forfeit over E. W. Bliss.

Sosbe's led all the way against Bellows Valvair with period scores of 7-3, 16-13 and 29-17.

George Alek took scoring honors for the winners with 23 points. Tony Alek had 11. John Dupah led Bellows Valvair with seven markers.

Can the Lisbon Blue Devils do it again?

That's the big question in the district as area basketball coaches prepare their charges for a 26-game weekend card.

Lisbon, which dropped two straight Tri-County League games to fall to second place in the loop with an 8-2 mark, defeated the Columbiana Clippers earlier in the season to take first place but they will have to do it again in order to hope for a tie for the conference crown.

And, this time the county seat crew will have to do it on the Clippers' home court. In the first conflict at Lisbon Jan. 12 the Devils stormed to a 54-44 victory before a capacity crowd.

SATURDAY'S ENCOUNTER will, in all probability, also be before a packed house too but Coach Gary Pike's Lisbon squad doesn't look nearly as vicious as they did when the squads met the first time.

Lisbon floors the tallest team in the county and was upset by the unimpressive Minerva Lions Jan. 25 and then fell to a giant-killing squad of Leetonia Bears last Friday.

Columbiana has played consistent ball throughout the season with its only loss being at the hands of the Lisbonites.

If the Clippers dump the Lisbon squad they will be a shoo-in for the crown, but if they lose and both teams go unscathed the rest of the season a tie would result.

HOWEVER, before the two teams get together Saturday, both have to face league opponents on Friday. Columbiana will be at Minerva while Lisbon entertains Poland.

Elsewhere in the loop Friday, Leetonia will be at Sebring and Louisville will be at East Palestine. On Saturday Sebring will be at Louisville, East Palestine will travel to Poland and Minerva will invade Leetonia.

The other two area leagues - Inter-County and Turnpike Conference - have no loop games slated for Friday but two Inter-County League games are on tap for Saturday.

IN INDEPENDENT GAMES Friday, Boardman will travel to Salem, Springfield Local will be at Crestview, McDonald will entertain Mathews, Jackson - Milton will be on the road at North Lima. United will play host to Carrollton, Warren St. Mary's will travel to Southington and Wells-ville will entertain Chester, W. Va.

In Inter-County action Saturday, Greenford's Bobcats will travel to Crestview and Mineral Ridge will entertain McDonald.

SPRINGFIELD LOCAL has walked away with the Turnpike Conference crown. The Tigers rolled to six straight loop wins without a setback while posting an 11-2 season mark.

In other games Saturday, Canfield will be at Cardinal Money, Jackson-Milton will be at Lowellville, Western Reserve will be at Bristol, Beaver Local will entertain Springfield Local, Warren St. Mary's will entertain Leavittsburg, Salineville will be at United East Liverpool will travel to Niles. Salem will be at Alliance and West Branch and Wellsville will battle at Salem.

Golf Tourney Starts Thursday

Nicklaus Favored In Arizona Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus will be one of the big favorites in the $35,000 Open golf tournament, starting Thursday, and therein lies proof of what a great change one short year can make in a young man's life.

When the blond youngster hauled his massive 200-pound frame into the Arizona desert country for this tourney 12 months ago, he was a neophyte pro of only three months.

He had averaged $250 a week in his first five tournaments, pretty fair wages for most folks, but he had yet to collect a really large check.

He cashed his first big one—$2,300—by finishing in a four-way tie for second at Phoenix and in a few fast months was named with veterans Arnold Palmer and

Gary Player as golf's "big three."

Jack the giant's official winnings last year totaled $61,868, topped only by Palmer and Gene Littler. By adding $51,064 in unofficial but very cashable checks—including $50,000 for beating Palmer and Player in the world series of golf—Nicklaus topped them all in over-all dough for play with $112,933.59.

Nicklaus also whipped Palmer in a playoff for the U.S. Open championship and just two days ago routed Player in an extra round for $9,000 top money at Palm Springs.

The Arizona Country Club's flat fairly wide open course, which plays to a par of 72 over 6,697 yards, should be made to order for the long-hitting Ohioan, just turned 23.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS L. LIDE

I think everyone knows this thing called groundhog day is a bunch of hooey. If he saw his shadow in parts of the country and did not see his shadow in this immediate vicinity, it has nothing to do with the weather.

We have had such a long siege of snow and cold it is only reasonable to assume the worst part of the winter is over. Not that there won't be some rough weather ahead but not prolonged on the sub-zero side.

As far as the groundhog is concerned, he is right now cleaning the winter accumulation of leaves and debris from the entrance to his hole.

The beaver trapping season will begin Feb. 15th and continue through Feb. 28th. You beaver trappers should make arrangements with the landowners in advance so when the season opens you can get into action. At the same time, may I urge landowners wanting the beavers removed from their property to either let me know about it and I will supply plenty of trappers or put a sign in front of your property "Beaver Trappers Wanted". Otherwise you can sit still and wait until next spring and gripe to the game protector about the beavers that have been doing you damage for the past several years.

It seems that everybody is predicting the weather to come so I figure I have a right to make my own predictions. One thing is sure, if we get a heavy rain with all this accumulation of snow, I pity the people living along the Ohio River. Flood control or no flood control dams, when enough water flows down stream it will cover all the flood control dams.

I lived in Pomeroy for 10 years before putting in my appearance up here. When the Ohio River left its banks and covered the roof-tops, most of us had a "John boat" and we traveled from friend to friend's home on the high ground and had some lively parties until the water receded. Everything that would float had long ago gone down the Ohio River. When the water receded we hosed out, scrubbed down, and went about business as usual.

During the 1937 flood, I was the Post Commander of the American Legion, Drew Webster Post No. 39. Food was needed during this disaster. I called Father Eugene Dunn in Millersburg, a former Pomeroy Priest, and the next day 3 truck loads of the best food possible arrived. We set up a regular grocery store, passed out food and clothing where needed, no questions asked, no one had to sign anything long before these so-called disaster units got into operation. I could write a long story about this. Don't ever discount The American Legion during a local disaster.

Outcome May Decide Loop Title

Wittenberg Meets Akron U. Tonight

By The Associated Press

The nation's No. 1 ranked small college basketball team—Wittenberg—rattles with Akron tonight in a showdown battle that could decide the hectic Ohio Conference race.

Wittenberg (10-0) needs a victory to just about clinch the crown, but Akron (11-1) would move to the top with an upset.

And breathing hard on the necks of the Tigers and Zips is third-place Ohio Wesleyan (10-1).

The Bishops kept their hopes for an OC title alive Tuesday night with a 91-78 triumph over Baldwin-Wallace. Barry Clemens and Ray Slabaugh, hitting 26 and 21 points, respectively, paced the hot-shooting Bishops who connected on 54 per cent of their field goal attempts.

The league's top scorer, B-W's Bob Walters, kept his team in contention with 33 points, but Wesleyan had too much, leading by as many as 19 late in the game.

In other Ohio Conference action, Oberlin nipped Otterbein 60-59 and Wooster defeated Kenyon 96-85.

Elsewhere, Ashland topped Wilmington 78-71 in a Mid-Ohio Conference tilt; Indiana (Pa.) State turned back Fenn 86-76 and Bliss College beat Tiffin 65-60.

Boze Johnson and Larry Auger scored 28 points each to lead Ashland over Wilmington. Tex. Taylor tallied 20 for the losing Quakers.

Machen Is Not Named On Ring List This Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Machen, the long-time No. 1 heavyweight contender, has been removed temporarily from top 10 in the February boxing ratings by Ring Magazine.

As a result of the ailing Machen's elimination, former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson was promoted from second to first and undefeated Cassius Clay of Louisville was elevated from fifth to second in the rankings released today.

Doug Jones of New York, who meets Clay in New York March 13, moved up to No. 3 while Sweden's Ingemar Johansson was elevated from sixth to fourth. Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., who was knocked out by Jones, was dropped from third to sixth.

Mets' Hodges Says Knee OK

Detroit's Key To Success Hinges On Lary's Pitching

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ Associated Press Sports Writer

How the Detroit Tigers face in the American League pennant race this season could hinge on the condition of pitcher Frank Lary's right shoulder.

Lary, a 23-game winner in 1961 when the Tigers finished second, was hampered by the sore arm last year. The injury limited him to 14 starts and his won-lost record was a dismal 2-6 as Detroit dropped to fourth place.

The next few weeks at Detroit's advance spring training camp site in Lakeland, Fla., could determine if Lary's career is in jeopardy.

Lary, who will be 32 in April, will report to Lakeland Monday and attempt to work his arm back into shape.

The Yankee nemesis—he boasts a 28-11 lifetime record against them—will be allowed to get into condition without the formality of signing a contract.

Gil Hodges, whose gimpy left knee also makes his availability with the New York Mets a question mark, agreed to terms Tuesday.

Hodges' sore knee will bear scrutiny at the Mets' camp in St. Petersburg, Fla.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Speaking of this music for the swinging Kats. There is a definite need and demand for it. I know a lot of people young and old who prefer it! Their ranks are on the increase perhaps.

I also know there is a group who cannot or will not keep up with this hot stuff. I have respect for those who prefer the waltz and for those who provide it.

If you swing or waltz you can save more cash at the Country Store.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Medical Sleuths Track Down Villains

Sherlock Holmes used a sixth sense to catch criminals. Medical sleuths must often use intuition, the most up-to-date laboratory facilities, and a slight assist from Lady Luck to track down the villain that is causing a disease.

Dr. Brandstadt one to come to my attention has to do with histoplasmosis. This is a lung infection that resembles tuberculosis and is caused by a yeast-like fungus.

The persons who run the greatest risk of getting this disease are those who clean out hen houses or are in other ways exposed to soil that has been contaminated by bird droppings. The disease is not spread from person to person but is acquired by inhaling the dust from such soil.

RECENTLY a 3-year-old boy developed an enlarged spleen and liver. Since no cause could be found, a surgeon opened his abdomen and snipped off a small piece of the enlarged organs. They were found to contain histoplasma.

The doctors then knew what disease they were dealing with. But, since this all happened in the middle of the winter, they knew that the child could not have been exposed to contaminated soil. Unless they could find out how the disease was transmitted they could not prevent recurrences. Their job was, therefore, far from completed.

Specialists in fungus diseases, attached to the Walter Reed Army Medical Center, were asked to help. Even though snow covered the ground, they did not want to miss any bets.

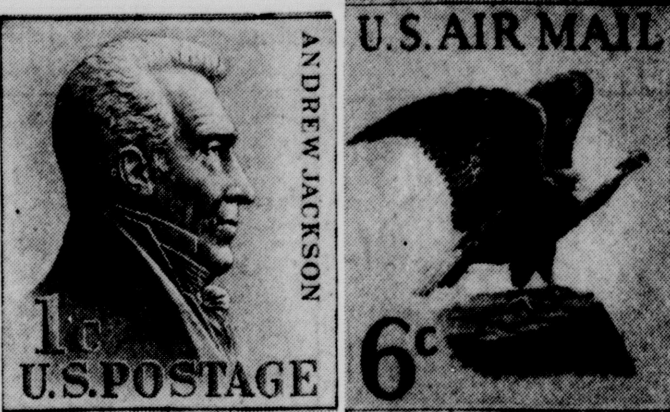

They took soil samples from the yard of the child's home and indoors from the potted plants. No histoplasma were found. Because the child had had to have blood transfusions in his first days of life, the blood of all the donors was examined but still no fungus was found. The other members of the child's family also were examined and they too were given a clean bill of health.

THE INVESTIGATORS thoroughly examined the dust in the filter from the air conditioner, although the apparatus had not been used in months.

The mother was questioned not once but many times about the possibility of any contact with birds no matter how fleeting. She knew of none. Then she remembered that one of the pillows the baby had used was stuffed with feathers. Like bloodhounds picking up a fresh scent, the investigators pounced on the pillow. The feathers were tested, and there was the villain!

WITH APPROPRIATE treatment, the infant was already well on the way to recovery. The pillow, which had been brought to this country from Hungary 30 years before, was well on its way to the incinerator.

There remained just one more mystery: Why hadn't any of the other children who had used this pillow in the 30-year period got histoplasmosis? That mystery may never be solved.

Shower At Leetonia Honors Miss Altomare

LEETONIA — Miss Santa Marie Altomare was honored when her sisters, Misses Nancy and Mary Altomare and sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Altomare entertained a miscellaneous shower in the social room of the Ohio Sons of Italy Hall Sunday. The hall was decorated with hearts, with a bride and groom doll featured as a centerpiece on the bride's table. More than 140 relatives and friends attended the party.

Miss Altomare will become the bride of Darrell Wyss of Damascus at 11 a.m. Feb. 16 at St. Patrick's Church. Open reception will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. in the social room of the OSI Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gotthardt visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robson of East Palestine Sunday.

Forests, Parks Council To Hold Meeting March 28

The annual meeting of the Columbiana County Forests and Parks Council will be held March 28, the place to be announced later, according to Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, chairman.

The group, which was formed at a public meeting in November, 1960, to promote the park areas in the county, consists of 25 persons elected at the annual meeting.

The March 28 meeting is open to anyone interested.

Specifically, the purpose of the council is to coordinate and integrate the efforts, plans, and programs of groups and individuals interested in the parks and wildlife areas in the county and to promote action in their development.

Cash contributions for support of the work of the council have been made by a number of individuals, the Salem Hunting Club, Inc., and the County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

Persons may make contributions either for the operation of the council or the restoration of Gaston's Mill in the Beaver Creek State Park area, a project advocated by the council, but the intended use should be specified.

Other officers of the unit are Steve Barborak of West Point, vice chairman, and Floyd Lower of Lisbon, secretary-treasurer.

DIES IN TRUCK CRASH — ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—A collision of two tractor-trailer rigs Tuesday at the intersection of U.S. 224 and U.S. 250 about 15 miles northwest of here killed one driver and injured the other.

Killed was Vester D. Hayworth, 35, of Council Bluffs, Iowa. Harry L. Wagner, 29, of Toledo was admitted to Ashland Samaritan Hospital.

Countain Found Guilty Of Drunken Driving

LISBON — A common pleas court jury late Tuesday morning returned a verdict of guilty against Jerry Molner 51, of Columbiana RD 2, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Sentence was deferred by Judge Joel H. Sharp to give Molner a chance to file for a new trial. The trial began Monday.

Lisbon GOP To Hear State Committeeman
